ACADEMIC APPOINTMENTS

2015 – Present	Associate Professor	University of British Columbia Department of Psychology
2011-Present	Tier 2 Canada Research Chair of Developmental Psychology	University of British Columbia Department of Psychology
2010 – 2015	Assistant Professor	University of British Columbia Department of Psychology
2007	Adjunct Professor	Southern Connecticut State University
2007	Adjunct Professor	Yale University
2006 – 2009	Teaching Assistant	Yale University

EDUCATION

2010	PhD, Developmental Psychology	Yale University
2009	MPhil, Developmental Psychology	Yale University
2007	MSc, Developmental Psychology	Yale University
2005	BA, Psychology with Honours	University of Chicago

RESEARCH INTERESTS

The overall aim of my research program is to help to tease apart the roles of nature and nurture in humans' social and moral lives. In particular, I examine the earliest developmental foundations of humans' pervasive tendency to judge individuals' actions as good or bad, as deserving of reward or punishment, and as morally praiseworthy or blameworthy, as well as to engage in prosocial and antisocial behaviors oneself. By examining these abilities in preverbal infants and young toddlers, I am able to determine whether any aspects of moral evaluation and behaviour emerge before complex cognitive abilities (such as language and inhibitory control) fully develop, and before extensive moral socialization begins.

AWARDS

- | | |
|------|---|
| 2018 | Stanton Prize, awarding young scholars in philosophy or psychology who have begun making significant contributions to interdisciplinary research and have been active in SPP; Society for Philosophy and Psychology (1 recipient) |
| 2016 | Killam Research Prize, recognizing outstanding research and scholarly contributions in the arts and humanities, junior category, University of British Columbia (1 recipient) |
| 2016 | Association for Psychological Science Rising Star Award (many recipients) |
| 2014 | Janet Taylor Spence Award for Transformational Early Career Contributions to Psychological Science; Association for Psychological Science (6 recipients) |
| 2012 | Dissertation Award; International Society for Infant Studies (2 recipients) |
| 2011 | Dissertation Award; American Psychological Association Division 7 (Developmental Psychology, 1 recipient) |
| 2010 | Dissertation Award; Yale University Department of Psychology (2 recipients) |
| 2009 | Jane Olejarczyk Award for Service to the Psychology Department, Yale University (1 recipient) |
| 2004 | Phi Beta Kappa (United States' most prestigious liberal arts and sciences honours society) |
| 2004 | University Student Marshall (highest academic achievement given to students at University of Chicago); University of Chicago (~10 recipients) |
